

Brief Bio Dr Selvi Kannan

A highly credible Academic Advisor & Leader, I offer more than 20 years' experience in corporate and higher education sectors, with success leading the design and delivery of strategies that drive innovation and disruptive thinking. A published Researcher, Lecturer and Consultant with a track record in knowledge management, management and innovation, I am an ambassador for best-in-class L&T practices and institutional collaboration, globally. Leveraging a consultative leadership style, I have shaped tertiary education programmes, curricula and teaching pedagogy in order to enhance learning experiences, maximise employability and convert business opportunities across international markets, with notable success. I am a passionate researcher and thought leader, with a specific interest in innovation, contemporary business and L&D challenges in human capital such as talent attrition, diversity, intuitive teaching approaches, and addressing workplace challenges in innovation.
